

Ethics within the Profession

For this assignment, please use the [program] code of ethics. Based on your knowledge of the code of ethics and ethical decision-making skills, prepare a paper addressing part I and II as described below. The attached rubric will be used to evaluate your proficiency on this assignment.

- I. List three provisions or principles (broad statements to guide ethical decision making) in the professional ethics code that you think are very important. For each provision, explain why you have selected it as important. Give an example of how this provision might be applied in a professional situation.

Provision 1:

- a. List provision
- b. Reason for importance and relevance to profession
- c. Applied example illustrating importance

Provision 2:

- a. List provision
- b. Reason for importance and relevance to profession
- c. Applied example illustrating importance

Provision 3:

- a. List provision
- b. Reason for importance and relevance to profession
- c. Applied example illustrating importance

- II. Read the ethics scenario below, and answer the questions which follow it.

[program scenario]

1. Using your professional code of ethics, describe the ethical issue(s).
2. Describe the parties who are or should be involved in the issue(s) and discuss their point(s) of view.
3. Describe and analyze possible/alternative approaches to the issue(s) including benefits and harms to those affected.
4. Choose one of the approaches that you think is best and support your choice explaining the benefits and risks.
